Why Coursepath?

Coursepath gives you the flexibility to train your employees, customers and partners on demand, wherever you are in the world. We give you a reliable and secured online training tool that lets you focus on what is important for you and your organization. The intuitive design, and the clean and modern interface of Coursepath creates an easy training domain for trainers and a friendly learning environment for participants.

How does Coursepath work?

Coursepath provides you with the online academy that you can brand, and an easy-to-use online authoring tool. You can create courses from scratch or upload existing training material in PowerPoint or PDF which will be automatically converted into a course. Enrich them further with videos, external links, tests and more. Participants log in and follow the course on their own time and at their own pace. Social collaboration is built around the course as well allowing participants to ask questions, respond and interact with the trainer and each other. Trainers on the other hand have real-time insight into the progress of each individual and their performance. There is also an option to award certificates to participants who have successfully finished the training.

Bite-sized learning is easy and fun!

Coursepath specializes in Microlearning – the offering of online trainings in quick, meaningful and bite-sized learning portions. In today's online training setting, long-winded courses have become unpopular and are very hard to take in. Short and well-structured courses therefore bid participants a better learning experience, as well as give them the opportunity to engage interactively. With the right mix of content in your courses – e.g. text, exercises and interactive media – learning can be made fun.
